Preface xv

1 Introduction 1
The Origins and Development of Economic Prehistory 4
Key Legacies of the Palaeoeconomy School 7
Criticism of Economic Approaches and its Impact 19

2 Is Determinism Dead? 23
Key Models 25
Site Catchment Analysis 25
Optimal Foraging Theory 29
Models of Ecological Productivity, Predictability and Territoriality 37
Carrying Capacity and Population Growth 42
Niche Construction Theory 46
Conclusion: Constraints, Frames of Reference and Metanarratives 46

3 Incorporating New Methods I: The Stable Isotope Revolution 50
'You are What You Eat' and Beyond – Reconstructing Plant, Animal and Human Diet, Foodways, Health and Husbandry 52
'You are Where and When You Eat' – Migration, Seasonality and Socioeconomic Landscapes 66

Ongoing Revolution – Compound-Specific Stable Isotope Analysis and Novel Proxies 72
Conclusion 73

4 Incorporating New Methods II: Residue Chemistry 75
Lipid Residues and Zooarchaeology: Critical Comparison 77
Lipid Residues and Archaeobotany 93
Protein Residues 94
Conclusion 97

5 Incorporating New Methods III: Answering Palaeoeconomic Questions with Molecular Genetics 99
Archaeogenetics and Economic Questions 100
Pitfalls and How to Avoid Them 110
At the Cutting Edge and Future Directions 118
Genotypes and Phenotypes: Integrating Genomics with Geometric Morphometrics (GMM) 118
Epigenetics and Microbiomes 119
Conclusion 121

6 Incorporating New Methods IV: Phytoliths and Starch Grains in the Tropics and Beyond 123
Phytoliths, Starch and Early Agriculture in the (Sub)tropics 124
Phytolith and Starch Taphonomy: A Critical Comparison 129
Integrating Phytolith, Starch and Macrobotanical Studies 132

7 Integrated Case Study I: Early Farming in Central Europe 137
LBK Economy 139
Neolithic Economy in the Alpine Foreland, with Particular Reference to Lake Constance 155
Integrated Perspectives on Identity and Inheritance in Neolithic Central Europe 159

8 Integrated Case Study II: Horse Domestication and the Origins of Pastoralism in Central Asia 163
Setting the Scene: The Later Prehistory of Northern and Central Kazakhstan 165
Horse Domestication 169

Pastoralism in Bronze Age Kazakhstan: Mobility and Environment 184
Social Zooarchaeology of Horses in the Steppes 189

9 Conclusion 195
Revisiting Key Palaeoeconomic Ideas and Methods 197
Striking a Balance in Theoretical Approach 201
Next Generation Challenges 203
Conclusion 207
